

We Listen, We Create, We Deliver

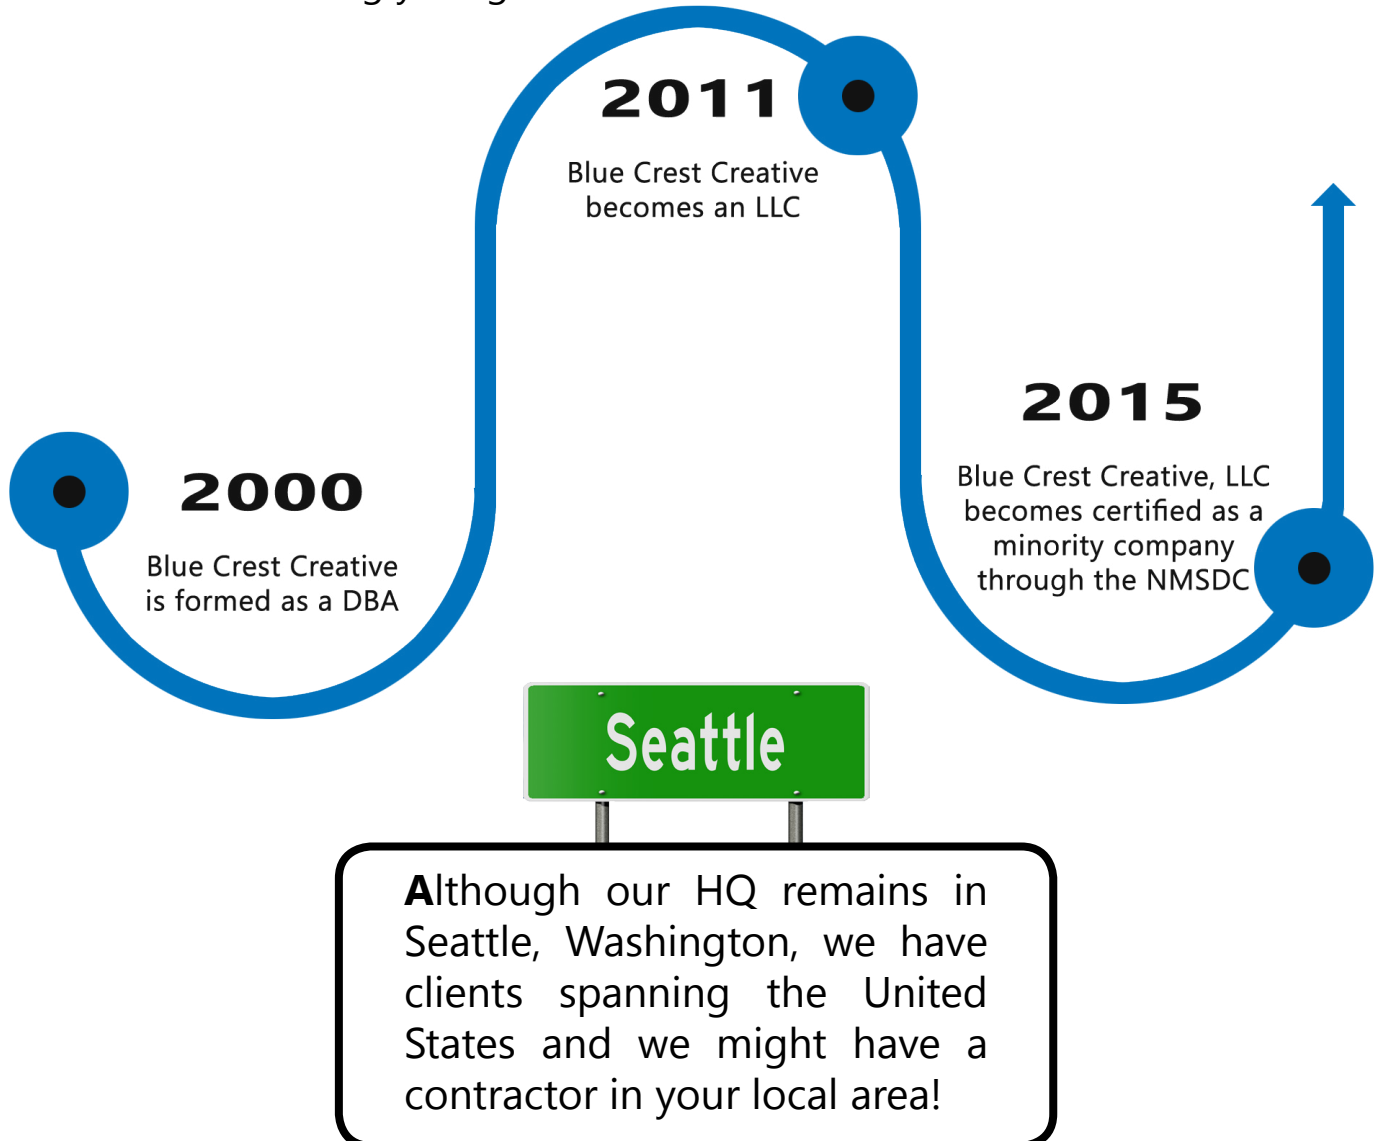

Press Kit 2016

who we are

For over fifteen years, we have helped our clients move their business forward by developing creative advertising and marketing materials that are executed for maximum impact!

No matter what the project, we follow the same proven process of defining opportunities, quantifying goals and choosing the optimal media mix for reaching target markets.

Whether your business is a start-up requiring hands-on creative talent, or an established company seeking the next level of success; we thrive on developing a creative solution that will not only accomplish, but excel in delivering your goals.

she said, he said

"...reliable, efficient and truly professional...an amazing positive attitude and brings solutions to the table -never problems."

"I would HIGHLY recommend...especially around website design and project management, as well as other general marketing roles."

C. Calkin | Microsoft

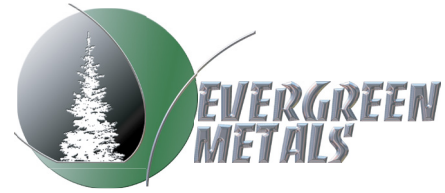

"I would highly recommend because of his dedication and his uncanny ability to come up with creative business solutions for his clients."

"...passionate about providing the highest quality of work possible... follow through to his clients is second to none

"...would be an asset to any creative design / web development or Project Management initiative."
